Important Client Information:
Update of Test-Environment

Dear client,

We are now scheduling an update of the entire test environment in order to copy current data/documents/setups from live environment.

For this reason, the test environment (homologation) will not be available from Friday March 13, 2015 12:00 (LUX) to Sunday March 22, 2015 24:00 (LUX).

Be aware that the current information in test environment will be overwritten. Thus every funds, prices, setups, documents, user logins etc. will be identical than the current ones in production.

Note that all the opened test cases will be lost, so make sure to finish them before the reload.

There is no impact on the live environment before, during and after the update and there are no additional third party actions required.

We thank you for your understanding.
